DAAD – German Academic Exchange Service Study Scholarship and Research Fellowship Information Session
DAAD Fellowships provide support for study in Germany. The following opportunities through DAAD are generally most relevant for graduate students: study scholarships (provide an opportunity to do independent study in Germany or to complete a full Master's degree), research grants (primarily to do doctoral research). As a partner university, DAAD encourages the UA to select one priority candidate. Priority candidates from partner universities receive preferential status in the general fellowship competitions and have a considerably higher likelihood of being selected. The information session will cover the basics of the study scholarship and research scholarships as well as the priority candidacy process.

Fulbright Week (April 4 – 8)
Fulbright is the flagship program for international educational exchange for the U.S. government, promoting mutual understanding between the people of the United States and people of other countries in the world.” Multiple offices across campus regularly provide workshops on the Fulbright experience and provide application support for students, faculty and staff, and recent alumni. International Student Services and International Faculty and Scholars’ Offices in UArizona Global support international Fulbright Students and Scholars who come to the University of Arizona to study or conduct research. If you are a Fulbright student or if you are thinking of becoming one, we have events for you. https://research.arizona.edu/fulbright-events

Hiring Graduate Tutors for Fall 2022
The Writing Center is hiring graduate students for Fall 2022. This position works best for students with a .25 GA-ship or less. The position provides an excellent professional development experience. General Funding Opportunities

American Educational Research Association (AERA) Dissertation Grants

With support from the National Science Foundation (NSF), the AERA Grants Program announces its Dissertation Grants competition. The aim of the program is to advance fundamental knowledge of relevance to STEM policy, foster significant science using education data, and build research capacity in education and learning. The program seeks to stimulate research on U.S. education issues using data from the large-scale, national and international data sets supported by the National Center for Education Statistics (NCES), NSF, and other federal agencies, and to increase the number of education researchers using these data sets. The program supports research projects that are quantitative in nature, include the analysis of existing data from NCES, NSF or other federal agencies, and have U.S. education policy relevance.
American Indian Graduate Center Funding Opportunities
American Indian Graduate Center offers a variety of funding opportunities for graduate students including MA, MS, PhD, STEM, Medical, Law, MBA, and other professional degrees. There are several funding opportunities, including the Empowering Scholars Initiative: AIGC Access Scholarships, REDW Scholarship, Scholarships and Professional Training Opportunities, Special Higher Education Program, and more!

Climate Assessment for the Southwest - Environment & Society Dissertation Improvement Grant
The Climate Assessment for the Southwest program is currently accepting applications for a one-time Environment & Society Dissertation Improvement Grant. This funding opportunity provides a $14,000 stipend to a University of Arizona doctoral student to develop a collaborative component of their dissertation research. Proposed projects should incorporate an engaged research approach that meets a need expressed by a stakeholder, defined as an organization, community, or person affected by the research outcomes. Competitive proposals will describe methods for stakeholder engagement and collaboration, examples of which include workshops, project meetings, co-development of data analyses, and writing reports or other outputs to meet stakeholder information needs. Projects can take place anywhere in the world and may focus on any environmentally-related issue.
- Deadline: April 25, 2022

German Federal Environmental Foundation/ Deutsche Bundesstiftung Umwelt (DBU) – Doctoral Scholarship Program
The DBU grants dissertation fellowships each year, for individuals in all disciplines, for advanced research work in the field of environmental protection. The work has to be done mainly in Germany, with a clear reference to the German environmental situation. The chosen topic is expected to be of high relevance and should contribute to solving problems in environmental and conservation efforts. Generally, all environmental issues are welcome who meet the above-mentioned criteria, i.e. in addition to the natural sciences and engineering, also applications from the social sciences, humanities, economics and law. Interdisciplinary topics that support a sustainable development, are especially welcome. The complexity of environmental problems requires interdisciplinary collaboration between different scientific disciplines. DBU expects good German skills from foreign applicants to allow their integration into the DBU scholars' network.

International Foundation for Ethical (non-animal) Research Fellowship Program

The purpose of IFER's Fellowship Program is to provide financial incentives to graduate students in science that encourage them at the earliest stages of their career to integrate innovation and discovery with ethics and respect for animals. Fellowships are awarded to those candidates whose program of study shows the greatest potential to replace the use of animals in science. Graduate Fellowships are awarded to develop alternatives to the use of animals in research, testing and education are open to students enrolled in Master’s and Ph.D. programs in the sciences, and human or veterinary medicine. Fellowships will also be considered for graduate students in other fields, such as education, psychology, humanities, journalism, and the law, for projects that show promise to increase public awareness or to promote changes in the legal system or public policy regarding the use of animals in research, testing, and education. Our fellowships provide up to $12,500 annually in stipendiary support and supplies per year. The fellowships are renewable annually for up to three years. Continued funding is dependent on student progress and availability of funds.

Korean American Scholarship Foundation

The Korean American Scholarship Foundation (KASF) is a non-profit, volunteer-managed organization established to help meet the financial needs of Korean American students seeking higher education. KASF scholarships (which range from $500 to $5,000) are offered to the qualified Korea American students (including foreign students from Korea). All applicants must be enrolled in a full-time program in the U.S.
during the scholarship application year. If extra funds are available, other students (non-Koreans) may qualify for scholarships. Specifically, descendants of American veterans served during the Korean War may qualify for scholarships (applicable to selective regions).

- Deadline: June 30, 2022 (opens April 1, 2022)
- Citizenship: Students with a Korean heritage studying in the United States regardless of citizenship status (including Korean Nationals). If extra funds are available, other students (non-Korean) may qualify for some scholarships.

Southwest Climate Adaptation Science Center - Natural Resources Workforce Development Fellowship

The Southwest Climate Adaptation Science Center (SWCASC) Natural Resources Workforce Development (NRWD) Fellowship was developed to provide graduate students with opportunities for training and practice in developing use-inspired and actionable science to inform natural resource management decisions. Those selected will make up a team of 8 scientists, working together over the course of twelve months. One applicant from each of the seven SW CASC consortium institutions (see map) will be selected. We encourage broad participation from students who identify with groups that have been traditionally underrepresented in the government and academic workforce. There is funding for one additional award for an Indigenous scholar at The University of Arizona. Funding for successful applicants includes a stipend of $7,000, with an additional travel allowance of $1,000 for each cohort meeting that occurs away from their home campus. The 2 successful University of Arizona applicants will be eligible to receive one full year of graduate tuition.

University Corporation for Atmospheric Research (UCAR) Earth System Science, Diversity & Inclusion, and Public Policy Fellowships

Each year UCAR selects three graduate students for fellowship tracks in Earth System Science, Diversity & Inclusion, and Public Policy. The Next Generation Fellowships offer graduate students the opportunity to learn alongside leaders in their fields. Just as important, these programs bring an infusion of fresh ideas and new perspectives to our organization. Each two-year award provides financial support for graduate school and two summer visits. The UCAR Next Generation Fellowships offer three distinct tracks: Earth System Science, Diversity & Inclusion, and Public Policy. These fellowships are intended for graduate students holding an undergraduate degree in atmospheric science or a related Earth system science, such as one of the other geosciences, chemistry, computer science, engineering, environmental science, mathematics, meteorology, oceanography, physics, or social science.

- Deadline: May 16, 2022
- Citizenship: Unrestricted for all tracks except the Public Policy Track, which is open to U.S. citizens.

Bemis Center for Contemporary Arts Artist-in-Residence Program
Since 1981, Bemis Center has provided artists from around the world dedicated time, space, and resources to conduct research and to create new work. The Bemis residency is a process-based experience—residents have the ability to research, experiment, and explore free from expectations. Bemis residents enjoy generous sized, private live/work studios and have 24-hour access to extensive installation and production spaces; the Okada Sculpture & Ceramics Facility, a 9,000 square foot industrial workshop used for large-scale sculpture fabrication; and a Sound Studio for rehearsing and recording. U.S.-based artists-in-residence receive a $1,000 USD monthly stipend and an additional $750 USD travel stipend. Due to the limitations of B2 visas (touring/visiting), international artists-in-residence are eligible to receive reimbursement of qualified expenses, such as airfare, ground transportation, and meals.

Cuban Research Institute (CRI) Diaz-Ayala Library Travel Grants
Every year, the Cuban Research Institute (CRI), the Kimberly Green Latin American and Caribbean Center (LACC), and Florida International University (FIU) Libraries offer the Díaz-Ayala Library Travel Grants to study the special collections related to Cuba and Cuban Americans. These awards are offered in honor of Cristóbal Díaz-Ayala, the prominent music collector and independent scholar who donated his Cuban and Latin American Popular Music Collection to FIU in 2001. The grants provide scholars and graduate students the opportunity to conduct research on Cuba and its diaspora at the FIU Green Library, thereby expanding access to the library’s unique holdings and enhancing its value as a national resource. CRI, LACC, and FIU Libraries offer research stipends of up to $2,000 each to offset the costs of a minimum one-week stay (five working days) in Miami to use the collections. Two of the awards are given to U.S.-based scholars or graduate students, in accordance with the requirements of the U.S. Department of Education Title VI Grant. Those residing in other countries are encouraged to apply for the remaining grant.

Harpo Foundation Grants for Visual Artists
The Grants for Visual Artists award provides direct support to under-recognized artists 21 years or older. Applications are evaluated on the basis of the quality of the artist’s work, the potential to expand aesthetic inquiry, and its relationship to the foundation’s priority to provide support to visual artists who are under recognized by the field. Funding decisions are made by the Board of Directors, following review of applications by independent professional advisors. Awards are made of up to $10,000. Grants are made to support the development of artists’ work and a grantee may use their award to support any activity toward that purpose.

- Deadline: April 29, 2022
- Citizenship: U.S. citizen

MacDowell Artist Colony Fellowship for Artists in Many Disciplines
MacDowell provides time, space, and an inspiring environment to artists of exceptional talent. A MacDowell Fellowship, or residency, consists of exclusive use of a studio, accommodations, and three prepared meals a day for up to eight weeks. There are no residency fees. MacDowell accepts applications from artists working in the following disciplines: architecture, film/video arts, interdisciplinary arts, literature, music composition, theatre, and visual arts. MacDowell encourages applications from artists representing the widest possible range of perspectives and demographics and welcomes artists engaging in the broadest spectrum of artistic practice and investigating an unlimited array of inquiries and concerns. To that end, emerging as well as established artists are invited to apply. Doctoral candidates who have finished all coursework may apply.

Russell Sage Foundation (RSF) Small Grants and Summer Program
The Russell Sage Foundation (RSF) offers a variety of funding opportunities. We provide support primarily for analyzing data and writing up results, and particularly welcome innovative projects that collect or analyze new data to illuminate issues that are highly relevant to the foundation’s funding priorities. RSF offers small grants to doctoral students at the dissertation stage and recent Ph.D. recipients to support innovative, high-quality research and to encourage young investigators to enter developing interdisciplinary fields. Small grants are currently offered under the Foundation’s program in Behavioral Economics and its special initiative in Computational Social Science. (4) RSF occasionally holds targeted small grants competitions to analyze new datasets that investigators have made available to the wider research community. These targeted calls for proposals offer one-year small grants to doctoral students and early career researchers to analyze these new data. RSF hosts a conference a year after grants are made for grantees to present their results.

National Health Service Corps Scholarship Program (NHSC SP) (graduate and postdoctoral)
The NHSC SP is administered by the Health Resources and Services Administration (HRSA) of the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services (HHS). The NHSC SP is a competitive federal program that awards scholarships to students pursuing eligible primary care health professions training leading to: A degree in medicine (allopathic or osteopathic); A degree in dentistry; or A postgraduate degree or postgraduate certificate from a school or program in nurse-midwifery education, physician assistant (PA) education, or nurse practitioner (NP) education specializing in adult medicine, family medicine, geriatrics, pediatrics, psychiatric-mental health, or women’s health. In return for scholarship awards, scholars commit to providing primary care health services to underserved communities. The program provides support to students who seek financial assistance to complete primary care health professions education. The NHSC SP pays for tuition and various other reasonable education-related costs and also provides a monthly stipend to assist with living expenses in exchange for a minimum of two (2) years of fulltime service.

U.S. Department of Energy Office of Science Graduate Student Research (SCGSR) Program at DOE Laboratories

The goal of the Office of Science Graduate Student Research (SCGSR) program is to prepare graduate students for science, technology, engineering, or mathematics (STEM) careers critically important to the DOE Office of Science mission, by providing graduate thesis research opportunities at DOE laboratories. The SCGSR program provides supplemental awards to outstanding U.S. graduate students to pursue part of their graduate thesis research at a DOE laboratory/facility in areas that address scientific challenges central to the Office of Science mission. We strongly encourage applications in 4 new transdisciplinary research areas for encouraging graduate training activities at the convergence of multiple disciplines and communities, including Microelectronics, Data Science, Fundamental Symmetries, and Accelerator Science.

- Citizenship: U.S. citizen or permanent resident
Tylenol Future Care Scholarship in Healthcare
The Tylenol Scholarship Fund currently awards $250,000 in scholarships each year to students pursuing careers in healthcare around the world and in the United States. The makers of Tylenol award 10 scholarships worth $10,000 each, followed by 30 scholarships worth $5,000 each. An additional 150 scholarships worth $1,000 are reserved for students who participate in community service activities. Applicants will be judged on leadership qualities and academic performance.

- Citizenship: USA, Puerto Rico, or District of Columbia resident
- Deadline: typically June 30 each year

U.S. Department of Energy Office of Science Graduate Student Research (SCGSR) Program
The goal of the Office of Science Graduate Student Research (SCGSR) program is to prepare graduate students for science, technology, engineering, or mathematics (STEM) careers critically important to the DOE Office of Science mission, by providing graduate thesis research opportunities at DOE laboratories. The SCGSR program provides supplemental awards to outstanding U.S. graduate students (US citizens or lawful permanent residents) to pursue part of their graduate thesis research at a DOE laboratory/facility in areas that address scientific challenges central to the Office of Science mission. The research opportunity is expected to advance the graduate students’ overall doctoral thesis while providing access to the expertise, resources, and capabilities available at the DOE laboratories/facilities. The SCGSR program provides supplemental funds for graduate awardees to conduct part of their thesis research at a host DOE laboratory/facility in collaboration with a DOE laboratory scientist within a defined award period. Collaborating DOE Laboratory Scientists may be from any of the participating DOE national laboratories/facilities. The award period for the proposed research project at DOE laboratories/facilities may range from 3 to 12 consecutive months.

- Deadline: May 4, 2022
- Citizenship: U.S. citizens or permanent residents

Women's International Network of Utility Professionals (WiNUP) Fellowships
The Women's International Network of Utility Professionals (WiNUP) believes in doing all it can to help those within the industry with their educational pursuits. WiNUP currently has three fellowships available annually to females pursuing advanced degrees (beyond a bachelor's degree), which will lead to careers in the utility industry or allied fields. Relevant fields must relate to a career in a utility related profession such as engineering, business administration, accounting, environmental sciences, communication, information technologies, and so on. Three fellowships are offered annually: the Julia Kiene Fellowship ($2,000 award), the Lyle Mamer Fellowship ($1,000 award), and the Louisan Mamer Fellowship ($500 award).
Postdoctoral Opportunities

Experimental Psychology Society (EPS) Postdoctoral Grants for Study Visits
This scheme aims to help finance postgraduate and postdoctoral research in experimental psychology. Awards will pay for travel to and accommodation at another institution outside an individual’s academic base. The purpose of the visit is to develop the applicant’s research skills and may involve learning at first-hand about experimental procedures employed in the host laboratory or designing and running studies that cannot already be carried out in the applicant’s home department. Awards will not be granted for work which forms an integral part of an existing Ph.D research project, nor for work which would normally be funded by other bodies (e.g. the applicant’s award-granting body or home institution). To apply for an EPS Study Visit, you must be an EPS postgraduate member or a postdoctoral worker who received their PhD within the last five years. It is a further condition of the award that either the researcher’s home institution or the institution to be visited, or both, must be in the UK. Preference will be given to applicants supervised by an EPS member, or whose visit involves a project with an EPS member. Grants will be for a maximum of £3,500 to any individual. In addition, the Society will, on receipt of appropriate invoices, reimburse the institution visited by the student for actual costs incurred as a consequence of the visit up to a maximum of £100.

- Deadline: June 1; September 1; December 1; March 1
- Citizenship: Unrestricted

Helen Hay Whitney Foundation (HHWF) Postdoctoral Research in Biomedical Sciences
The Helen Hay Whitney Foundation (HHWF) supports early postdoctoral research training in all basic biomedical sciences. To attain its ultimate goal of increasing the number of imaginative, well-trained and dedicated medical scientists, the Foundation grants financial support of sufficient duration to help further the careers of young men and women engaged in biological or medical research. Candidates who hold, or are in the final stages of obtaining a Ph.D., M.D., or equivalent degree and are seeking beginning postdoctoral training in basic biomedical research are eligible to apply for a fellowship. The Foundation accepts applications from candidates who have no more than one year of postdoctoral research experience at the time of the deadline for submitting the application (June 15, 2021), and who have received a PhD (or D.Phil. or equivalent) degree no more than two years before the deadline, or an M.D. degree no more than three years before the deadline. Since the number of available fellowships is limited, the Foundation does not make more than one award per year for training with a given supervisor. It also does not support more than two fellows per laboratory at one time.
• Deadline: June 15, 2022
• Citizenship: International students may apply but “foreign students will need to obtain appropriate visa documentation”

Huntington's Disease Society of America (HDSA) HD Human Biology Project
The Human Biology Project was launched in 2013 with the goal of fostering innovative research in collaboration with HD clinics to better understand the biology of Huntington’s disease as it occurs in humans. HDSA encourages researchers to consider one of HDSA’s 54 Centers of Excellence as a potential collaborator, but applicants may propose to work with any HD clinic around the world. One to two years of funding will be provided to support a scientist working collaboratively with an HD clinic anywhere in the world. Awards up to $75,000/year ($50,000 salary support and $25,000 research budget) will be granted. Preference will be given to young postdoctoral and clinical investigators (PhD and/or MDs) who are not yet independent.
  • Deadline: May 6, 2022 (letter of intent due); July 8, 2022 (complete application due)
  • Citizenship: Unspecified

Los Alamos National Laboratory (LANL) Postdoctoral Research Associate Appointments
Postdoctoral Research Associates pursue research as part of ongoing LANL science and engineering programs. Funding is provided through programmatic or Laboratory Directed Research and Development funds. Most selected candidates will be offered a Postdoctoral Research Associate appointment. Each year, approximately 30 Postdoctoral Fellow appointments, including the Distinguished Postdoctoral Fellows, are awarded. Initial appointments are for two years, three years for the Distinguished Postdoctoral Fellows. Sponsored postdoctoral candidate packages are reviewed throughout the year.
  • Deadline: For the August review cycle, Sponsored* candidate packages must be submitted by early July, with outcome of review in late August. *Sponsored means a Los Alamos National Lab staff member/mentor has been identified for the candidate. If a sponsor has not been identified, please submit your application no later than the beginning of the month prior to the deadline to allow sufficient time to identify a mentor.
  • Citizenship: Unspecified

Morton Cure Paralysis Fund (MCPF) Research Grants
The Morton Cure Paralysis Fund (MCPF) is committed to developing effective therapies (cures) for paralysis associated with spinal cord injury and other disorders of the central nervous system (CNS). MCPF funds activities that hold promise of identifying therapies (cures) for paralysis in humans. MCPF has particular focus of placing projects in the research pipeline, that is, enabling scientists to develop the proof concept data necessary to apply for larger NIH grants. The development of effective therapies for chronic injury is a high priority for the organization. Basic research will be supported if it has clear potential to accelerate progress at the applied end of the continuum and/or if it reflects innovative research or a 'change of direction.' Most research awards range from $5,000 to $75,000 and are based on one-year contracts. A second year may be considered contingent upon the grantee submitting a six-month progress report, a 12-month progress report and a continuation application that is favorably reviewed by MCPF’s Grant Committee. Either senior scientists or postdoctoral fellows may serve as principal investigators. If the latter, the applicant must submit a letter of support from the laboratory’s senior scientist, as well as two other appropriate letters of reference.

- Deadline: April 30; October 31
- Citizenship: Unrestricted

The National Academies of Sciences Engineering Medicine Army Research Laboratory (ARL) Distinguished Postdoctoral Fellowship

For more than 50 years, the Army Research Laboratory (ARL) has conducted the great majority of the Army's basic science programs. Currently, ARL scientists and engineers are pioneering research in such areas as neuroscience, energetic materials and propulsion, electronics technologies, network sciences, virtual interfaces, and synthetic environments and autonomous systems. In recognition of these outstanding achievements in research, ARL has established five named fellowships. The ARL Distinguished Postdoctoral Fellowships will provide the opportunity for recipients to pursue independent research of their own choosing that supports the mission of ARL. The Fellow benefits by having this opportunity and by working alongside some of the Nation's best scientists and engineers. ARL benefits by the expected transfer of new science and technology that enhances the capabilities of the U.S. Army and the warfighter in times of both peace and war. Candidates are expected to have already successfully tackled a major scientific or engineering problem during their thesis work or to have provided a new approach or insight, evidenced by a recognized impact in their field.

- Deadline: June 15, 2022
- Citizenship: There are no citizenship requirements; however, selected fellows must successfully complete a Department of Defense clearance process, requiring a background security investigation. Foreign nationals must get further DoD approval, requiring a background investigation. If needed, J-1 research scholar visas may be sponsored for fellows; this will be determined on a case-by-case basis at the time of the award.

Wenner-Gren Foundation for Anthropological Research Post-Ph.D. Research Grants

Post-Ph.D. Research Grants are awarded to individuals holding a Ph.D. or equivalent degree to support individual research projects. The program contributes to the Foundation’s overall mission to support basic research in anthropology and to ensure that the discipline continues to be a source of vibrant and significant work that furthers our understanding of humanity's cultural and biological origins, development, and variation. The Foundation supports research that demonstrates a clear link to anthropological theory and debates, and promises to make a solid contribution to advancing these ideas. There is no preference for any methodology, research location, or subfield. The Foundation particularly welcomes proposals that employ a comparative perspective, can generate innovative approaches or ideas, and/or integrate two or more subfields.

- Deadline: May 1; November 1
- Citizenship: Unrestricted
