GradFunding – Alaska Artist-in-Residences, Tribal Nations Scholarships, Clean Energy Fellowships, and more

Dear Graduate Students,

Many well-known fellowships have fall deadlines, but we have a slight preference for the spring fellowships; they are so wide-ranging in their focus and sometimes a perfect starting place for students who have not previously applied for funding. Check out the great UA opportunities below, the Carson Scholars Program, the Tinker, the Space Grant, and the FLAS. If you want to look for more opportunities, please read our advice about searching for fellowships. Best of luck in finding a good fit!

Shelley and Bethany

Health Policy Research Scholarship

Health Policy Research Scholars (HPRS) is a four-year national leadership development program for full-time doctoral students from nonclinical, research-focused disciplines in which policy is a key driver of change (e.g., urban planning; political science; economics; anthropology; education; social work; sociology; engineering; geography; and lab/bench sciences). HPRS is designed for students who want to improve health, well-being, and equity; challenge long-standing, entrenched systems; exhibit new ways of working; collaborate across disciplines and sectors; and bolster their leadership skills. The goal of HPRS is to cultivate transformational leaders from diverse backgrounds with doctoral training—representing a wide range of research-focused disciplines—who will inform and influence policy.

- Deadline: March 15, 2023
- Citizenship: U.S. citizens, permanent residents, or individuals granted Deferred Action for Childhood Arrivals (DACA) or Temporary Protected Status

Mathematica Policy Research Summer Fellowships

The Summer Fellowship Program at Mathematica welcomes doctoral students to spend 12 weeks at one of Mathematica’s office locations. Fellows will work on their own independent research project (typically their dissertation), which will intersect with one or more of Mathematica’s focus areas. Fellows will be mentored by senior staff, learn about Mathematica and its work, and have the opportunity to shadow Mathematica research projects and proposals. At the conclusion of the fellowship, fellows will present a seminar on their research project. Each fellow will receive a stipend of $10,000, plus $500 in project-related expenses. View some of the topics covered by prior visiting summer fellows.

Funding Opportunities in the Arts, Humanities, & Social Sciences

AccessLex Institute Legal Education Diversity Pipeline Grant Program

The Diversity Pipeline Intervention Grant Program provides funding to programs and initiatives aimed at helping college students and/or college graduates from historically underrepresented groups successfully matriculate into law school and the legal profession. The central goal of the Diversity Pipeline Intervention Grant Program is to increase the knowledge base around effective methods for increasing the enrollment and success of law students from historically underrepresented racial, ethnic, and socioeconomic backgrounds. Accordingly, we seek to fund collaborative programs that provide participants with meaningful content and experiences as well as holistic support.

- Deadline: March 1, 2023 (letters of inquiry accepted); July 28 (full proposal)
- Citizenship: U.S. citizen or resident
- Website: https://www.accesslex.org/legal-education-diversity-pipeline-grant-program
Alaskan Artist-in-Residence Program
The Voices of the Wilderness artist residency is a unique opportunity. It is modeled after traditional residencies in the national parks... with a twist. Instead of staying at a remote wilderness cabin, our participating artists are paired with a wilderness specialist and actively engaged in stewardship projects, such as research, monitoring, and education. The idea is to give artists a sense of the stewardship behind America’s public lands, fostering an artistic exploration of these natural and cultural treasures. The hoped-for result is artwork that communicates something of the meaning of these lands. The purpose is to share with the community artwork that conveys the inspirational and other values of wilderness.

- Deadline: March 1, 2023 (AK Time)

Gerda Henkel Stiftung/Gerda Henkel Foundation General Research Grants: Projects
Funding activities concentrate on German and foreign academics in the fields of historical humanities. Starting in 2015, the Foundation has with its “Patrimonies” funding initiative focused more strongly on the preservation of cultural heritage, specifically in regions experiencing crisis. Funds are provided for specific temporary research projects by way of grants for personnel, travel and material expenses (not for individual journeys to participate in conferences); research and PhD scholarships for German and foreign scholars (not for studies under PhD level); and publications of particularly successful projects supported by the Foundation. Eligible fields include archeology, history of art, historical Islamic studies, history, history of science, history of law, and prehistory/early history.

- Deadline: May 17, 2023
- Citizenship: Unrestricted

Houston Center for Contemporary Craft Residency Program
Applicants must be able to fulfill a program requirement of working in their studios for two days per week during HCCC public hours. All resident artists are required to open their studios to public interaction on Saturdays and one other day of the week (TBD), as well as during exhibition openings and specific educational programs on the evenings and weekends. Media accepted includes wood, glass, metal, fiber, and clay. Applicants should consider the public-facing nature of the residencies and the fact that a major goal of the program is to provide visitors with an opportunity to explore contemporary craft through engaging with working artists. Benefits of the residency include 24/7 access to studio space, cultural and professional development opportunities, a monthly stipend that includes a small housing/materials allowance, and the opportunity to give an artist talk.

- Deadline: March 1, 2023
- Citizenship: International applicants must provide proof of eligibility to work in the U.S.—green card or appropriate visa—with application.

Linguistics Program - Doctoral Dissertation Research Improvement Awards (Ling-DDRI)
Through its competitive grants competitions, the Linguistics Program of the U.S. National Science Foundation seeks to advance basic understanding and methods in the study of language. The Linguistics Program expects that the research it supports will draw upon and enhance fundamental theory in linguistics, and it will encourage and support potentially transformative research that has potential larger-scale, longer-term significance for both basic understanding and for societal benefit. Doctoral dissertation research improvement (DDRI) awards provide support to enhance and improve the dissertation projects conducted by doctoral students enrolled in U.S.

- Deadline: July 17, 2023, and January 15, 2024
- Citizenship: Unrestricted; the applicant is the university

Mellon-Fronteridades Graduate Fellowship on Border Dynamics
The Confluencenter for Creative Inquiry invites graduate students from the University of Arizona working on interdisciplinary research projects on the U.S.-Mexico border to apply for its 2023 Mellon-Fronteridades Graduate Fellowship. The Mellon-Fronteridades Graduate Fellowship program aims to support current graduate students with humanistic interdisciplinary research projects to advance our understanding of the narratives, experiences, knowledges, histories, performances, spaces, and heritages that shape and are shaped by the U.S.-Mexico borderlands. The program is part of the Fronteridades Border Scholars initiative funded by The Andrew W. Mellon Foundation, aiming to foster and promote scholarship and creative activities that explore, analyze, and elevate this region’s lived experiences and cultural resources. Interested graduate students should be working on projects that create new ways of understanding border dynamics in Arizona-Sonora communities by the time they receive their award (Fall 2023). Proposed projects must be: 1) interdisciplinary, 2) focused on the U.S.-Mexico border, and 3) humanities' centered.

- Deadline: March 10, 2023

CDC Evaluation Fellowship Program
The CDC Evaluation Fellowship Program aims to expand the capacity of CDC programs to conduct evaluation and increase its usefulness and impact. The Fellowship signifies CDC’s dual commitment to making program evaluation a standard part of practice and to developing a cadre of professionals with the skills to make that happen. Fellows are doctoral or master’s degree professionals with backgrounds in evaluation, behavioral and social sciences, public health, and other disciplines relevant to evaluation and CDC’s work. The Evaluation Fellowship offers a unique training opportunity with clear expectations and supportive resources, including professional development funds provided by the host program. In this experiential learning model, Fellows learn evaluation skills working in their host program while helping their host program build, expand, and/or improve their evaluation activities.

The Gulf Research Program’s Science Policy Fellowship program helps scientists hone their skills by putting them to practice for the benefit of Gulf Coast communities and ecosystems. Fellows gain first-hand policymaking experience as they spend one year on the staff of federal, state, local, or non-governmental environmental, natural resource, oil and gas, and public health agencies in the Gulf of Mexico region. Fellows who have completed an MA, MS, or MPH/MSPH degree or who are currently enrolled in a doctoral program will receive an annual stipend of $58,000. Fellows who have completed a PhD, ScD, EngD, MD, DrPH, or DVM will receive an annual stipend of $63,000.

Harvard-Smithsonian Center for Astrophysics

Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory (SAO) brings together scientists for research in astrophysics and related fields. Applicants in theory, observation, instrument development, or laboratory experiments at a university or college are strongly encouraged to apply to this program. The program is designed for graduate students wishing to carry out all or part of their thesis research at the Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory. Therefore, applicants must have completed preliminary coursework and examinations prior to the start of the SAO Predoctoral Program. The SAO Predoctoral Fellowship is awarded for a period of six months or more dependent on the project. It is possible to renew or extend a SAO Predoctoral Fellowship Award based on the availability of funding, satisfactory progress, and the agreement of both the home institution advisor and the SAO advisor.

- Deadline: Rolling, but all applications must be submitted at least six weeks prior to the intended appointment start date.
- Citizenship: The SAO issues only J-1 visas to fellowship recipients.

Idaho National Laboratory (INL) Graduate Internships

Graduate internships at INL offer a great opportunity to explore research topics. Internships are primarily awarded to qualified masters and doctoral degree candidates in science, technology, engineering and mathematics (STEM) fields. Qualified candidates in other areas, however, are also considered. INL’s internship terms are designed to match a typical university term, lasting anywhere from 10 to 16 weeks. Summer interns should come to INL expecting to work 40 hours. There is, however, flexibility within that 40-hour workweek to assist interns with scheduling conflicts, if needed. INL interns are paid a nationally competitive wage that is based on the number of credits they have earned and degree program they are enrolled in.

Rockey Foundation for Food and Agriculture Research (FFAR) Fellows Program
The Rockey FFAR Fellows Program was established to provide professional development and career guidance to the next generation of food and agriculture scientists across the Foundation for Food and Agriculture’s Challenge Areas and strategic initiatives. By providing early career support to graduate students, the program cultivates supportive relationships between graduate students and industry, government, and NGO peers to equip students with the skills needed to facilitate their transition to the workforce and prepare future leaders for food and agriculture. Fellows will be co-mentored over the 3-year program by university and industry representatives and engage with their peers in professional development programming both virtually and at five one-week residential sessions.

- Deadline: February 22, 2023 (Stipend + Professional Development) and April 15, 2023 (Professional Development Category)

UArizona/NASA Space Grant Graduate Outreach Fellowships
The UArizona/NASA Space Grant Program and nominating departments provide six graduate fellowships per year to exceptional graduate students interested in promoting the understanding of space-related research to the public and who are studying space sciences/engineering, public policy, earth sciences, science education, or global change-related fields. Space Grant fellows are required to complete an educational outreach project as part of their fellowship. Fellowships, co-sponsored by UArizona, Space Grant, and the applicant’s nominating department, include a stipend of $16,000, both in-state and out-of-state tuition/registration fee waivers, student health insurance, and $750 per year for travel to professional meetings. Fellows may apply for a second year of funding.

Postdoctoral Opportunities

APHL-CDC Public Health Fellowship (graduates and postdocs)

Association of Public Health Laboratories and the Center for Disease Control offer a variety of laboratory fellowship programs to train and prepare scientists for careers in public health laboratories and to support public health initiatives. The Public Health Laboratory Fellowship Program offers a competency-based core curriculum, while allowing fellows to gain a depth of understanding about a particular focus area. Fellowship terms are one year, with a possible extension for a second year, depending on the fellowship and funding availability. APHL offers flexible start dates, two per month, to meet your and your mentor’s needs. The fellowship program covers a variety of topics. Below are examples of the different focus areas you could be matched with and placed into: (1) Bioinformatics, (2) Biorisk Management, (3) Environmental Health, (4) Food Safety, (5) Infectious Disease, (6) Informatics, (7) Quality Management, or (8) Ronald H. Laessig Newborn Screening.

California Council on Science and Technology Policy Fellows Program

Every year, California decision makers must make critical decisions on a number of complex and dynamic issues facing our state, such as the state’s water supply, energy grid, and public health. To help address this, the CCST Science & Technology Policy Fellows program annually recruits and trains a cohort of fifteen PhD scientists and engineers to spend one year working in Sacramento, directly serving decision makers within the California State Legislature and Executive Branch. During their year of public service, these scientific minds get a front-row seat learning about the craft and process of policymaking in the state of California. CCST S&T Policy Fellows work alongside decision makers to evaluate complex scientific issues and interpret data, while tackling the responsibilities of full-time staffers.

- Deadline: February 28, 2023

Clean Energy Innovator Fellowship – Department of Energy
The Clean Energy Innovator Fellowship program funds recent graduates and energy professionals to work with critical energy organizations to advance clean energy solutions. The program recruits talent from diverse backgrounds to spend up to two years supporting the work of eligible host organizations, which include electric public utility commissions, municipal and cooperative utilities, and grid operators, such as regional transmission organizations or independent system operators. Innovator Fellows receive a stipend and an educational allowance to support host institution projects that will help decarbonize the power system, electrify transportation and industry, and make the U.S. power system more equitable and inclusive.

- Deadline: Rolling (multiple cohorts)
- Citizenship: U.S. Citizens or legal permanent residents

Damon Runyon Cancer Research Foundation Fellowship Award
The Foundation encourages all theoretical and experimental research relevant to the study of cancer and the search for cancer causes, mechanisms, therapies and prevention. Candidates must apply for the fellowship under the guidance of a Sponsor—a scientist (tenured, tenure-track or equivalent position) capable of providing mentorship to the Fellow. In addition to aiding in the planning, execution and supervision of the proposed research, the Sponsor’s role is to foster the development of the Fellow’s overall knowledge, technical and analytical skills, and capacity for scientific inquiry. The Sponsor is also expected to assist the Fellow in attaining his/her career goals.

- Deadline: March 15, 2023
- Citizenship: “Foreign candidates may apply to do their research only in the United States.”

de Duve Institute Post-Doctoral Program in Belgium
The de Duve Institute is on the list of institutions recognized by the Belgian government to be eligible for tax-exempt prizes and subsidies. The Institute awards 1-year fellowships, which are renewable once, to young scientists who in principle have not obtained their PhD degree at a Belgian University and who wish to carry out their post-doctoral research within one of our research groups. Candidates must hold a PhD or MD degree, and must be in a situation of “international mobility”, i.e. they should in principle not have resided or carried out their main activity (work, studies, etc.) in Belgium for more than 12 months in the 3-year period before submission of their application for a de Duve Institute fellowship.

Experimental Psychology Society (EPS) Grants for Study Visits
This scheme aims to help finance postgraduate and postdoctoral research in experimental psychology. Awards will pay for travel to and accommodation at another institution outside an individual’s academic base. The purpose of the visit is to develop the applicant’s research skills, and may involve learning first-hand about experimental procedures employed in the host laboratory, or designing and running studies that cannot already be carried out in the applicant’s home department. Awards will not be granted for work which forms an integral part of an existing Ph.D research project, nor for work which would normally be funded by other bodies (e.g. the applicant’s award-granting body or home institution). To apply for an EPS Study Visit, either the researcher’s home institution or the institution to be visited, or both, must be in the UK.

- Deadline: March 1, June 1, September 1, December 1
- Citizenship: Unrestricted
- Website: https://eps.ac.uk/study-visit-grants/

Hunt Postdoctoral Fellowship
Hunt Postdoctoral Fellowships (writing) provide up to $40,000 towards the writing-up of already completed research. The fellowship is awarded to early career scholars, who frequently lack the time and resources they need to publish their work. Applicants should be no more than ten years beyond their PhD, with allowances made for periods of caregiving, and have a doctorate in anthropology or an equivalent field. A maximum of eight Hunt Postdoctoral Fellowships are awarded annually. By providing funds for scholars to devote themselves full-time to writing, the Foundation aims to enable a new generation of scholars to publish significant works that will impact the development of anthropology. The program contributes to the Foundation’s overall mission to support basic research in anthropology and to ensure that the discipline continues to be a source of vibrant and significant work that furthers our understanding of humanity’s cultural and biological origins, development, and variation. The Foundation supports research that demonstrates a clear link to anthropological theory and debates, and promises to make a solid contribution to advancing these ideas. There is no preference for any methodology, research location, or subfield. The Foundation particularly welcomes proposals that employ a comparative perspective, can generate innovative approaches or ideas, and/or integrate two or more subfields.

Intelligence Community (IC) Postdoctoral Research Fellowship Program
The Intelligence Community (IC) Postdoctoral Research Fellowship Program offers scientists and engineers from a wide variety of disciplines unique opportunities to conduct research in a wide range of topics relevant to the Intelligence Community. The research is conducted by the Postdocs, while working in partnership with a Research Advisor and collaborating with an advisor from the Intelligence Community. The Program supports postdocs to conduct research at universities, colleges, and U.S. government laboratories throughout the United States.

In partnership with the Research Advisor, the Postdoc composes and submits a technical proposal that responds to a research opportunity.

National Aeronautics & Space Administration (NASA) Postdoctoral Fellowship
The NASA Postdoctoral Program (NPP) provides early-career and more senior scientists the opportunity to share in NASA's mission, to reach for new heights and reveal the unknown so that what we do and learn will benefit all humankind. NASA Postdoctoral Fellows work on 1 to 3 year assignments with NASA scientists and engineers at NASA centers and institutes to advance NASA's missions in earth science, heliophysics, planetary science, astrophysics, space bioscience, aeronautics, engineering, human exploration and space operations, astrobiology, and science management. NASA Postdoctoral Program Fellows contribute to our national scientific exploration, confirm NASA's leadership in fundamental research, and complement the efforts of NASA's partners in the national science community.

Ruth L. Kirschstein Postdoctoral Individual National Research Service Award
The National Institutes of Health (NIH) offers up to 3 years of fellowship support for postdoctoral scholars interested in biomedical and behavioral research. The purpose of the Ruth L. Kirschstein National Research Service Award (NRSA) Postdoctoral Fellowship is to enhance the research training of promising postdoctoral candidates who have the potential to become productive, independent investigators in scientific health-related research fields relevant to the missions of the participating NIH Institutes and Centers. Awards are made to individual applicants for specific training proposals. The scholarship is named after Dr. Ruth L. Kirschstein. Aside from Dr. Kirschstein’s scientific accomplishments in polio vaccine development, and becoming the first woman director of an NIH Institute, she was a champion of research training and a strong advocate for the inclusion of underrepresented individuals in the scientific workforce.

Zuckerman STEM Leadership Postdoctoral Scholars Program

The Zuckerman Postdoctoral Scholars Program attracts high-achieving postdoctoral scholars from premier universities in the United States and Canada to do research at one of seven Israeli universities. Once they complete their research, many Zuckerman postdocs are expected to accept faculty positions at top North American universities, weaving a network of academic collaboration and goodwill that will greatly benefit US-Israeli scientific cooperation. Zuckerman Scholars enjoy unique programming and activities organized especially for them by their host universities and the Zuckerman Institute in Israel, including touring, educational experiences, and social programs. These activities are designed to strengthen the scholars’ knowledge of and connection to Israel, and cultivate an esprit de corps, exchange of ideas, and foster new relationships.
