THE UNIVERSITY OF ARIZONA
Graduate College

Graduate Center Newsletter

Issue 10, September 2019

A Team Effort for Taking on the Job Market

The job market is vast and can be complicated, but we're not going to let you face it alone. The Graduate Center is here to help you approach and navigate your search for a job after graduate school, and many other groups on campus are too! Click here for a round-up of campus resources for taking on the job search.

Upcoming UA Events for Graduate Students & Postdocs

For more event details and a full calendar of events related to professional development opportunities, visit the Graduate Center calendar.

Friday, September 20

9:00am: ThinkTank Writing Support

10:00am: UX Drop-In Consulting

11:30am: Zenger Award Lunch Honoring Christiane Amanpour

3:00pm: WSIP Walk-in Tutoring and Writing Consultation

Sunday, September 22

5:00pm: ThinkTank Writing Support

Monday, September 23

9:00am: ThinkTank Writing Support

12:00pm: WSIP Monday Writing Workshops: Improving Grammar and Style

3:00pm: WSIP Walk-in Tutoring and Writing Consultation

6:00pm: GPSC General Council Meeting

8:00am: PhTea: Coding and Programming Support Meetup

9:00am: ThinkTank Writing Support

12:00pm: Preparing for Faculty Job Applications - Writing a Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion Statement

Wednesday, September 25

8:30am: Writing Efficiency Session

9:00am: ThinkTank Writing Support

10:00am: Exploring Data Science

10:00am: OIA: Designing Engaging Writing Assignments & Effective Rubrics

12:00pm: ILP Future Leaders Workshop: Learning from the Middle: How to Get Stuff Done Without Being in Charge

12:00pm: Think Tank Graduate Student Workshops

Thursday, September 26

9:00am: ThinkTank Writing Support

9:00am: Data Drop-in

12:00pm: TLA 101: Pathways to Impact

12:30pm: Writing Efficiency Session

4:00pm: Hacky Hour: Interdisciplinary Data Science Meetup

Friday, September 27

9:00am: ThinkTank Writing Support

10:00am: UX Drop-In Consulting

12:00pm: Start Smart Workshop: Understanding the

A University Fellow's Take on Pedagogy, Policy and Crisis Prevention

Dylan Barton's passion for youth and school psychology is an irresistible force. He has worked with children in community centers, the penal system, and schools; he is immersed in educational policy at both the K-12 and university level. Barton's driving goal: provide support to prevent crises for youths. Read more about his exciting, important work here.

Graduate Students' Highly Incomplete Guide to Getting Off Campus

Whether you're brand new to your graduate program or an ABD in your final stretch, an important part of staying happy and healthy in graduate school is making time for relaxation and enjoying life outside of your work. Hear from fellow grad students about where they go when they need to get away.

Refugee Education: Classroom, Campus, and Community

After working in Japan, New York, and Egypt, Julie Kasper came home to Tucson with a passion for teaching English language. Her work in schools and the community focuses on refugee students and families, and includes a new project to aid young adult refugees working toward their GED certificate. This project is also an opportunity for graduate students to get involved in refugee education, regardless of their field. To learn more about Kasper's work, click here.

2:00pm: LiLaC Conference: Literatures, Languages, and Cultures in the 21st Century

3:00pm: WSIP Walk-in Tutoring and Writing Consultation

Sunday, September 29

5:00pm: ThinkTank Writing Support

Monday, September 30

9:00am: ThinkTank Writing Support

3:00pm: WSIP Walk-in Tutoring and Writing Consultation

unsubscribe from this list   update subscription preferences